

Victor Valenzuela

Victor Valenzuela, M.Ed., is a transformative leader who is experienced in strategic leadership development. He has a reputation for cultivating organizational excellence and mission alignment. In his role as a learning and organizational professional, he has worked with all groups in an organization from C-suite executives to middle managers to general associates and colleagues. Victor has facilitated curriculum and program design and implementation, factors that have led to sustainable cultural change. As a cultural transformation leader who aligns strategic direction with a collaborative spirit, Victor provides insight to ensure faithful coherence of purpose, identity, and values resulting in shared purpose and belonging. He has been recognized for purposefully and meaningfully weaving equity, inclusion, and belonging in his work.

In his previous roles, Victor has been a school educator and administrator, a curriculum consultant for a textbook publisher, a facilitator, and a national presenter of professional development for teachers. His most recent role was as the vice president for ministry formation for a large health system, where he worked to align the workforce with the mission, vision, and values of the organization.

Victor is involved in his community in numerous ways. He volunteers at a youth development program as a board member, delivers meals to the elderly, and works on the board of a post-college volunteer organization.

Victor is bi-cultural and fully bilingual in Spanish and is a certified medical interpreter. He received a master's degree in education from the University of San Francisco and a bachelor's degree from St. Patrick's University in Menlo Park, California.

“ We all experience transition or transformation or both at some point in our lives. As humans, we possess the tools to guide us through these stages in our lives. As a coach, I am passionate about helping people uncover their strengths while they are in transition or transformation. My role is to accompany you in your inner quest to find those tools for these key moments in your life. My approach is from a diverse lens where there are multiple paths to help you achieve your best self.”

We listen. We guide.
We enable transformation.
